DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting Rejection

A rejection based on double patenting of the "same invention" type finds its support in the language of 35 U.S.C. 101 which states that "whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process ... may obtain a patent therefor ..." (Emphasis added). Thus, the term "same invention," in this context, means an invention drawn to identical subject matter. See Miller v. Eagle Mfg. Co., 151 U.S. 186 (1894); In re Ockert, 245 F.2d 467, 114 USPQ 330 (CCPA 1957); and In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970).

A statutory type (35 U.S.C. 101) double patenting rejection can be overcome by canceling or amending the conflicting claims so they are no longer coextensive in scope. The filing of a terminal disclaimer cannot overcome a double patenting rejection based upon 35 U.S.C. 101.

Claims 1, 3, 4, and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as claiming the same invention as that of claims 1-6 of prior U.S. Patent No. 6664701. This is a double patenting rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 7, 9, 10 and 11 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Meyer et al., US 3355611 in view of Sugai et al., US 6031313. Meyer et al., US 3355611 shows:

A method of manufacturing a brush for an electric motor,

Comprising the steps of:

Providing a brush blank 10 defining an axis there through and having a top Surface (16);

[Forming an arcuate spring retention] plunge in said top surface having a Slope relative to said axis (note figure 3); and

Plunging one of a grinding disc and cutting wheel into said top surface (note column 2 lines 7-17, that the groove is machined).

Meyer et al., US 3355611 disclose the invention substantially as claimed. Meyer et al., US 3355611 does not expressly disclose the bracketed material. Sugai et al., US 6031313 disclose forming a groove in a brush, for the purpose of forming a spring retainer. At the time the invention was made, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to replace the brush clip of Meyer et al., US 3355611 with a machined arcuate spring retaining surface in the surface of the brush of Meyer et al.,

Art Unit: 2834

US 3355611 to support a spring. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to do this to enable the spring to make contact with the brush directly to push it toward thus avoiding the interference tolerances of the brush clip.

Re claim 9, (which incorrectly depends on canceled claim 8, appropriate correction required in response to this Office Action) it is noted that the angle could be zero degrees or simple off-centered to form the shape as shown in Sugai et al., US 6031313.

Re claims 10 and 11, the groove as taught by the combination of Meyer et al., US 3355611 and Sugai et al., US 6031313 show these features as shown in figure 1(a) of Sugai et al., US 6031313.
